VOL. XXXIII.

STANFORD, KY., FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 24, 1905.

NO. 73.

A Few Words To You.

We cordially invite the people of Lincoln county and Stanford to visit our store. Never before have we had so many of the thoroughly artistic things. Our store room has been materially enlarged and our stock of goods especially suitable for holiday gifts has been doubled. We are reputed to be the biggest dealers of the kind in Central Kentucky and it is our purpose to supply the people of Boyle and adjoining counties with a class of goods that can not be elsewhere gotten outside the large cities and on account of our comparatively small expenses we can and will save you money on high-class jewelry and novelties.

Our optical department has been improved and better equipped and patients suffering from eye defects are especially invited to visit this branch of our business.

HUGH MURRAY,

Danville, Kentucky.

HIGHLAND.

Mrs. A. L. Young has been sick for some time.

Some of our farmers have butchered their hogs already.

Rev. Ebright filled his appointment at this place Sunday.

Mrs. C. M. Young, who accompanied her husband to Kingsville last Saturday, was taken ill while there and was not able to come home for several days.

Elbert and John Young attended the funeral of Luther Thompson at Eubanks.

Thompson was killed while coupling cars at Bowen Saturday night.

Russell Baugh has pneumonia. Mrs. Morg Young is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Walls, at Kingsville. Wm. Griffin, of O. K., is visiting W. G. Aetion.

Since our last report our neighbors have had quite a moving spell. Charley Vanhook moved to Kingsville and F. J. Conn, who had sold part of his farm to Burton Spires, moved to the house vacated by Vanhook. J. R. Carrier moved last week to Eubanks and H. H. Walls took possession of the house vacated by Carrier. H. F. Horton has moved to the Walls house and H. S. Cook to the Horton place.

Man's Unreasonableness

Is often as great as woman's. But Thos. S. Austin, Mgr. of the "Republican," of Leavenworth, Ind., was not unreasonable, when he refused to allow the doctors to operate on his wife, for female trouble. "Instead," he says, "we concluded to try Electric Bitters. My wife was then so sick she could hardly leave her bed, and five [5] physicians had failed to relieve her. After taking Electric Bitters, she was perfectly cured, and can now perform all her household duties." Guaranteed by G. L. Penny, Stanford, Lyne Bros., Crab Orchard. Price 50c.

MATRIMONIAL.

Miss Annie Hitchcock, daughter of Secretary Hitchcock, was married in Washington to Lieut. Commander W. S. Sims, of the navy.

A pleasant shock, but not a surprise, was given out yesterday afternoon about five o'clock, when it was learned that Mr. Milton Durham and Miss Minerva Cobb, both of this city, had eloped to Huntsville, Tenn., where they had just been married by a justice of the peace. The wedding was not a surprise to the friends of the young couple, as it was generally known they were sweethearts. The groom is a nephew of Mrs. Jennie Dillehay, and is a popular young gentleman. His bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cobb Jr., and is a handsome young woman. They will make their home in Danville for the present.—Advocate.

No Poison in Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

From Napier New Zealand, Herald: Two years ago the Pharmacy Board of New South Wales, Australia, had an analysis made of all the cough medicines that were sold in that market. Out of the entire list they found only one that they declared was entirely free from all poisons. This exception was Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, made by the Chamberlain Medicine Company, Des Moines, Iowa, U. S. A. The absence of all narcotics makes this remedy the safest and best that can be had; and it is with a feeling of security that any mother can give it to her little ones. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is especially recommended by its makers for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough. When taken in time it prevents pneumonia. This remedy is for sale by all druggists.

KIDDS' STORE.

Col. W. D. Staggs and wife, of Liberty, were here looking over their farm and renewing acquaintance with their kinsfolk.

A malignant epidemic is going the rounds amongst the swine of this vicinity and many losses are reported. Of course, one of the many ailments called cholera.

The few hunters in evidence declare unusual scarcity of quail. A wise ornithologist emphasizes the great value of quail to farmers in destruction of insects and consumption of weed seed and recommends their protection as if domestic fowls.

The landslide has subsided and a normal state of affairs again prevails. A cynical citizen, after reading your fraternal explanation of John Henry Thomas' defeat, added that a little more time for reviewing Latin and French grammar was a consideration—possibly.

It is current here that when Judge Raines heard returns from North Liberty he scented a Waterloo and like Cox, of Ohio, declared himself out of politics. Another story is that disgusted with party spite and jealousy he has renounced republicanism and aligned with the democrats.

Miss Rose McCormack visited her native neighborhood Sunday. She is one of the most lovable products of her favored community. Ed and Joseph Young, of Cumberland county, passed through town Saturday with nearly 100 good mountain cattle, headed for a blue grass court day market.

At a protracted meeting at Frye's creek church a disorderly party, when reproved by a venerable member, produced a gun and flourished it menacingly, which provoked a party to thrust a knife into the obstreperous individual with dangerous, if not fatal effect. Another tragedy due to too much bust-head booze.

Judge (?) Elias Kidd, who owns the best bluegrass farm in Casey, is quoted as having refused $75 per acre for it. When not a member of the board of supervisors the judge has faithfully gone before it and insisted on higher valuation of neighboring farms, but has never succeeded in getting his lands assessed at more than half his cash valuation.

John Allen has scriptural assurance of prime favoritism with the Lord in the multitude of his afflictions, like Job of renown. The last visitation was on his cattle—four choice, light feeders dying of Paris green poisoning. A new tenant, in cleaning house, dumped a quantity of the poison over the yard fence with other rubbish, and the mystery is but half a dozen of the herd were poisoned. A faithful physician nursed two of the victims beyond the danger line.

It is doubtful if the oldest citizen, without reference to a memorandum, can tell in what year Frye's creek road had an overseer and was given a hasty and flying inspection by a few of the hands assigned to its service. If there is a more execrable thoroughfare of equal length in the United States, the Argonauts will recall some especial Rocky Mountain trail as a fit comparison. Mayor Mason Poppewell, long exempt from road service by virtue of patriarchal venerability, in supreme disgust with local indifference, has assumed supervision and begun repairs with a vigor and thoroughness which assure him remembrance in the prayers of all hitherto exasperated travelers and a niche in the gallery of patriotic, public-spirited celebrities. All praise to the grand old mayor, whose philanthropy subordinates the ease old age has earned.

John Henry Pemberton declined an anesthetic and submitted to the removal of a bullet which had grazed his heart, with the stoicism of a martyr. It will be remembered that Mr. P.'s dwelling was lately invaded at night by a brace of ordinarily civil young men frenzied by mean whisky, who proceeded to extremes of indecency and brutality, repressing the young husband and brother-in-law for a while with a pistol. When John's inning came he dealt a blow with an ax disabling each of the assailants, and the surgeon who attended the two declared that each escaped instant death by a hair's breadth. That the fugitives could be transported within 24 hours and live, appears impossible. If Adam Carpenter had canvassed the district with eloquent recital of that horrible incident, right in the center of the field, Took would now be imitating Hearst in his efforts for a recount instead of reveling in honor of a decisive majority.

"I Thank The Lord!"

cried Hannah Plant, of Little Rock, Ark., "for the relief I got from Bucklen's Arnica Salve. It cured my fearful running sores, which nothing else would heal, and from which I had suffered for 5 years." It is a marvelous healer for cuts, burns and wounds. Guaranteed at G. L. Penny's Stanford, Lyne Bros., Crab Orchard; 25c

CRAB ORCHARD.

Lyne Bros., druggists, have received a large stock of beautiful Christmas goods. They will be on sale Dec. 1st.

Rev. O. M. Huey preached his farewell sermon at the Baptist church Sunday night, much to the regret of his many friends here.

A large crowd attended the sale of James Gilkerson Saturday afternoon and good prices were realized on the handsome silverware, etc. Mr. Sam Reynolds was auctioneer.

Mr. E. O. Singleton and family have gone to Oklahoma to reside. Mrs. M. P. Morgan and children, of McKinney, spent Saturday and Sunday with her mother, Mrs. Gormley.

When ordering your magazines for Christmas presents do not forget to leave your orders with Miss Hettie Harris. Get your best girl the Delineator, Ladies' Home Journal or any leading periodical.

Mrs. Eliza Sinclair, of New Orleans, who spent the summer with Mrs. Curtis Gover, returned home this week. Mrs. Lida Estes and children left for their home at McKinney Monday. Luther A. Smith, wife and little son will leave soon to make their home in Ashland. Misses Annie Bronaugh and Fannie Redd and Messrs. Reuben Bronaugh and Maurice Perkins attended the hop at Stanford Friday evening. Mrs. Charles Speigle, of Shelbyville, Ind., has returned home from a visit to her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Doores. Mrs. J. G. Carpenter was up from Stanford to attend the Gilkerson sale.

A SUGGESTION To The People Of Stanford.

The articles appearing in some of our leading publications have created a good of discussion in Stanford in regard to advertised medicines, their reliability and power to cure, and as local druggists, we, Penny's Drug Store, want to say to the people of Stanford that we believe one of the most reliable medicines that we have known in our drug experience, extending over a long period, is Vinol, the cod liver preparation, made without oil.

Vinol is not a patent medicine; everything in it is printed on the back label of every bottle, and it actually does contain in a highly concentrated form all of the medicinal, curative elements of cod liver oil taken from fresh cods' livers, and without a drop of the system-clogging oil to upset the stomach and retard its work, and this is why it is fast superseding old-fashioned cod liver oil and emulsions.

Inasmuch as Vinol is therefore the latest scientific improvement of an old and standard remedy it is the greatest strength creator in the world for old people, weak, sickly women and children, nursing mothers and after a severe sickness. It cures hacking coughs, chronic colds and all pulmonary troubles. We positively guarantee to return money if it fails. Penny's Drug Store.

Mrs. Crawford—Now that the honeymoon is over, I suppose you find your husband has grown economical with his kisses?

Mrs. Crabshaw—He has reached a worse stage than that, my dear. He has grown economical with his money.

Herb W. Edwards Injured.

Herb W. Edwards of Des Moines, Iowa, got a fall on an icy walk last winter, spraining his wrist and bruising his knees. "The next day," he says, "they were so sore and stiff I was afraid I would have to stay in bed, but I rubbed them well with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and after a few applications all soreness had disappeared. I feel that this bottle of Pain Balm saved me several days' time, to say nothing of the suffering." This liniment is for sale by all druggists.

"I can't see how young Spuddlekins has ever managed to win the success he had in business. He has a very weak chin."

"But you ought to see his father-in-law's iron jaw."

In a fight on the rooms of the Paul Kelly Association in Great Jones street New York, on man was killed and several others wounded.
